

And So The Rain

<sup>G</sup>
And so the rain, she comes again. I see that river rise outside my window.

<sup>C D C G</sup>
The rain she comes, this time each year, and she knows I'm waiting patiently right here.

<sup>C D G</sup>
The rain she comes, the rain she goes, the rain she falls.

<sup>C D G</sup>
The earth she move, the wind she blow, the river call.

The clouds roll in, the clouds roll out. The sun she shine just to find what she's about.

The rain she comes, the rain she goes, the rain she falls.

The earth she move, the wind she blow, the river call.

<sup>F C G</sup>
Down through the canyon walls she's flowing through;

<sup>F C G</sup>
No time to wonder where we're going to.

<sup>Em D</sup>
Wind, water, and wood, warm sandy shore,

<sup>Am C D D7</sup>
Still the water's rising, and you wonder how much more?

And so the rain, she comes again. I see that river rise outside my window.

The rain she comes, this time each year, and she knows I'm waiting patiently right here.

The rain she comes, the rain she goes, the rain she falls.

The earth she move, the wind she blow, the river call.
