Work all day in the drizzling rain, pack it all it in, do it all again.

Wet and weary, but not too tired, to play black coffee music by a good wood fire.

D G D A7 D

When the world is green and the sky is grey, feels like I might just fade away.

River comes up when the rain comes down, feels like I might jump in and drown.

And I'll swim deep, to the bottom of the stream.

And I'll fall asleep, have a rainy day dream.

I need a woman who can understand,

The rhythm and the rhyme of a rainy day man,

The rhythm and the rhyme of a rainy day man.

I was raised in a rainy day town, with a window on the world I watched the rain fall down.
