In the mood for slow food tonight.

Braise those chicken breasts, the legs and thighs, toss in course chopped onions let them caramelize
Celery and carrots and little red potatoes, we got window box herbs and homegrown tomatoes.
An aroma gram all around the neighborhood says every flavor savored, every morsel chewed.

I want thick Minestrone, cheesy macaroni, green chile enchiladas, lasagna with Ricotta.
Black-eyed peas and collard greens, we got twice baked potatoes with broccoli and cheese.
Red beans and rice and curried lamb, we got turkey pot pie and honey butter yams,
Let's get together for slow food tonight.
